pyrolite: Python for geochemistry

August 1, 2020

pyrolite is a Python package for working with multivariate geochemical data, with a particular focus on rock and mineral chemistry. The project aims to contribute to more robust, efficient and reproducible data-driven geochemical research.